Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Bedside and Wheel-Chair Occupations, Vol. 5 The following chapters contain the substance of some lectures which were given to the classes at the Boston School of Occupational Therapy. I have tried to make clear some of the limitations and the possibilities of bedside occupations. What is the use of teaching handicapped soldiers or civilian convalescents a lot of trivial crafts such as basket-making and block printing when they need so much to be on their way toward self-support. Is it not a waste of time? The answer is yes, most assuredly , unless the bedside occupations are used largely as a means to an end; unless they are abandoned as soon as the patient is able to do something more valuable and purposeful. Used for a short time in early convalescence, the small crafts are of the utmost importance - they are first of all diversional, then constructive. Many a convalescent fails to make any progress at all without some easy occupation which does not tax his newly-found strength; some occupation which interests him, which...
